Our Washington Letter.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8, 1865.

The capital is very quiet, the only excitement of the week being the announced purpose of the Government to hang Wirz the torturer on Friday. It is scarcely possible that this purpose will be changed, for the President is a man of great firmness of character. When he makes up his mind conclusively, it is very hard to change it. The counsel of Wirz (if he can be said to have counsel), has been waiting upon the President for a week, day after day, and has little hope of a commutation of sentence.

A good many people are inferring from this promptness in the case of Henry Wirz, that Jeff. Davis will soon be tried. However this may be, it is a fact that the President has been desirous all summer and through the fall that Davis should be tried. He exclaimed to a friend one day during the present week, "I was anxious for the trial to take place months ago, but the judicial authorities have placed obstacles in the way, or at least have claimed and urged that it was impossible to give the great criminal a fair trial yet." Meantime the country is getting accustomed to the idea of pardon, and if he is tried it will be against a strong public sentiment at the South, and among the opposition at the North.

It is stated in one or two leading journals that a special Cabinet meeting will be held on Monday to decide in reference to the trial of Davis. This, I have reason to believe, is a great mistake. The Cabinet meeting, according to my advices, had up the case of Wirz and also the threatened troubles with France because of Mexican matters. The alarming story which got out by the Paris correspondent in the London Times, that this Government had informed the French Emperor that not another French soldier would be permitted to go to Mexico from that country was false or grossly exaggerated, but it had a foundation. The French Government has been convinced that the sentiment of this country will not bear any further interference on the part of France on Mexico. The present condition of things may be tolerated for a time, but if Napoleon persists in sending more troops to Mexico the indignation and anger of the people cannot be controlled, and it will find vent through Congress. Something like this has been represented to the French Government by Mr. Bigelow, our Minister.

Now, then, what is the danger of a war with France? Not much, for I conclude that Napoleon will think two or three times before he goes to war for Mexico.

Meantime the Government is quietly preparing for contingencies. I do not mean to say that it is arming, for it is doing just the contrary—it is disbanding troops. Nearly all the Veteran Reserve Corps are choosing to be mustered out of the service, and the Government gives them their choice. This looks very little like war, but it Government is preparing for possible contingen- does not in reality contradict my statement that the cies. Any one can see that the iron-clad fleet sent into the waters of the Pacific is a strong one. It is not sent for nothing, but it is considered wise to take time by the forelock and have a strong naval force in the Pacific. It is not desirable to exaggerate the purpose of the Government. The act does not mean war but peace. But it is impossible to hide the facts. On Thursday the Secretary of the Navy was closeted nearly all day with Admiral Farragut. The newsmongers will have it that the subject discussed was the propriety of placing the Navy in a condition speedily to be strengthened, so that it could at once be called on for a great effort—should the necessity arise.

The Republican of this city asserts that Jeff. Davis is to have a speedy and a fair trial before a jury of his peers. It can do no harm for the other side of the continent to state that the editor of that journal got his authority from the President, so that if he is not tried, it will be because the President has changed his mind. At the present time he is determined, and has so announced to his cabinet, I hear he says the trial "shall be before a civil court." As I have remarked, he has been hindered from proceeding with the trial by the judicial authorities.

Wirz takes the announcement that he is to be hung coolly like a villain that he is. He says "he will haunt his persecutors." Miserable wretch! He will have enough to attend to in his own case, with all his claims to be answered for. However, this was bravado. After Gen. Augur had left his cell (the Gen. came to make the first announcement of his sentence) the miserable fellow broke down and lost all the courage which he spurned when his distinguished visitor was present. I understand that he admits that he deserves his fate, though he claims that he acted under orders. Even if his statement is true, he deserves to be hung, for a man who will execute such orders, is not fit to live. Those persons who know most of him—who have been in contact with him in court and in his prison, say that not a word that he utters is worthy of credit. In short, among his bad qualities, is that of infamous lying. The truth is not in him. There is nobody, unless it be his poor wife, to drop a tear over his grave, for nobody regrets his fate.

There is much excitement in all our large towns respecting the cholera. Washington is not entirely clear of it for if it should come we are not prepared for it. The canal that runs through the city is a great sewer, and in warm weather it is a horrible nuisance. Our municipal authorities are doing all they can, but that is not a great deal. Congress will be urged to take instant measures for the abatement of the canal nuisance.

The news reaches Washington to-day that in all the States (excepting little Delaware) in which elections were held yesterday the Union party swept everything before it. This was expected except in New York and New Jersey. In New York the opposition threw away their principles and proclaimed themselves the Union party. Some Union men and many persons here feared that they would succeed in their trick. They have failed and Gen. Slocum, John Van Buren and Montgomery Blair have gone to destruction. I happen to know that the President was anxious that the Union party (which nominated the Barlow ticket) should succeed, but under the circumstances he considered it beneath his dignity to take any official step to show his desire.

Now that the election is over, it can do no harm to say that the result will have a prodigious influence upon Congress and the course upon the great question of "reconstruction." The party favoring extreme liberality to rebels is badly beaten, and men who favor a cautious policy are in power locally as well as in Congress. A cautious policy then will be adopted, and the Southern claimants will not be speedily admitted.

There is great rejoicing over the announcement that New Jersey has been redeemed. If the latest accounts prove that the announcement is correct, the Republicans in this city from that State will indulge in a banquet. The President this morning remarked to a friend that it was the best election news he had heard for a long time.

The financial condition of the country is not satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury, as his friends understand his views. There is too much inflation, too much speculation. The withdrawal of fifty millions of compound interest bearing notes has had but a slight effect upon the market, and people are wondering why there are not more of them withdrawn. The reason is plain. The money market, under the "funding process," tightened so as to depress national securities, although railroad shares were not particularly depressed. The five per cent. deposits in the Sub-Treasury are of great importance to the Government, and it was found that before the fifty millions had been funded, seventeen millions of these deposits had been withdrawn. The Secretary was alarmed and shut the gate down at once upon the policy of contraction. He is now resting upon his oars, waiting for Congress to come together. The country has felt its repose so intimately that any attempt to change its direction produces convulsions. The opinions of the Secretary are well known, but he had to meet the combined opposition and remonstrances of a large number of New York merchants and bankers whose interests are against (so they think) a contractive policy. A man requires a great courage to stand up against such interests, but in his general course McCulloch must favor contraction, for he is committed to it.

The President was pestered this forenoon with a petition for commutation of the sentence of Wirz. His counsel, Schade, had an interview with Mr. Johnson and urged with great pertinacity such reasons as he could think of in Wirz's favor. The President listened patiently, as he always does, but could hold out no hope of a respite or commutation.

After Mr. Schade had been politely bowed out of the Presidential mansion, the delegation of Sacs and Foxes made their appearance and were properly introduced by their interpreter. As they were dressed in full costume, their appearance was striking.

It is said that the President has already begun to write his message, but how he finds the time to do it I do not see, for his whole time is taken up by delegations, pardon-seekers, and party friends. He will soon be compelled to close his doors against all visitors. ONCE A WEEK.

Common Schools.

The following remarks were made in the Senate a few days ago by Mr. Fraser, Senator from Polk county, in favor of the bill providing a new school system for the State:

Mr. President: I know not what importance other Senators may attach to the bill now upon its final passage, but, sir, as for myself, I consider it second only to the resolution ratifying the constitutional amendment. Not because I presented the bill, for I assure you, sir, I desire no such glory or honor as may attach to any member for being the author of more successful bills than any other Senator. But I do desire to make a record which may prove that when ever occasion required my voice and vote were found in favor of every measure which had a tendency to improve the educational status of our State. I hold, sir, that the department of instruction is more intimately connected with the material interests of this State than any other. The State heretofore (and justly too, perhaps,) at a heavy expense, has been placed on a military footing. Are not educated, intelligent, patriotic men, quite as efficient as a means of defense as iron-clad fleets, batteries, military encampments or bayonets? I ask you, sir, if the money thus expended will be to a better purpose than if it had been for public schools? Will it make any better returns to the State? The people are willing to contribute munificently for the support of the institution, for the building of a penitentiary, for giving liberal bounties to its volunteers, for loaning its credit for the purpose of forwarding internal improvements. If the people are willing to be taxed for the above purpose, I ask you if we may not reasonably infer that they will be willing to be taxed for the laudable purpose of educating the thousands of children in this State who are growing up, not attending any school. When the people of other States staggering under a heavy burden of taxation induced by the liberal manner in which they contributed support to the Government in suppressing the rebellion just terminated, when they declare not a dollar less shall be raised for schools, and not a school house shall be closed, shall Oregon alone of all the States shrink back from the duty of educating her children? Shall we make every sacrifice of men and money to maintain the Union, for a generation unfitted through want of education, to appreciate either our sacrifices, or the value of the inheritance we leave them. The real wealth of the State lies not in productive fields and fertile valleys, but in her educated men and intelligent free labor.

Educated mind has made the world rich by its creative power. The intelligent minds which have invented the hundreds of labor-saving machines in every department of industry, have created a wealth greater than the total product of the mines of Mexico, California, Oregon and Australia combined. Ignorance found out none of these inventions. I ask you, sir, how much gold would it require to induce us to set aside the inventions of iron-clads and monitors, the electric telegraph, and the sewing machine? What influence is so mighty in developing this creative power of society, as the intelligence imparted in the public schools. Go to the Patent Office and find out how many inventions come from the land of common schools, and how many from the States that have failed to establish them.

The machinery brought into use since 1510 is estimated to be equal to the labor of 500,000,000 of men. Ignorance never invented a machine to save the labor of a single man. The life of the nation lies not in a few great men nor brilliant minds, but is made up of the men who drive the plow, who build the ships, who run the mills, and all the machine shops; these constitute the life and strength of the nation. It is with all these men that the public schools have done and are now doing their beneficent work. The nation will not be saved by any one great man. The bone and muscle of intelligent laboring men must work out its salvation.

It may be urged that necessary as this measure may be, the financial condition of the State will not warrant the expenditure. But sir, if we wait till there is a surplus in the treasury, the children now in the State will have grown up half educated men and women, or without any education whatever. This bill does not propose to use any of the State fund only for the salary and incidental expenses of the State Superintendent which cannot exceed three thousand dollars. Are we so poor, so wanting in the elements of wealth that the sum of three thousand dollars should scare us out of inaugurating a system of public instruction? No, sir, we are not poor, nor are we in debt; our mineral, agricultural and commercial resources will compare favorably with any State of the Union.

We are in a more prosperous condition to-day than ever before. Our future is buoyant with hope. Look at our sister State, California, with a funded debt of three million, and a floating debt of half a million, expending thousands annually for educational purposes. The people of that State, lately, by an overwhelming majority, voted $75,000 for the completion of an asylum for the deaf, dumb and blind. Besides the thousands she expends annually for common school purposes, she supports a normal school for the education of teachers at a large expense to the State. Mr. President, my constituents are willing and anxious to be taxed for school purposes, and I doubt not but that the majority of the voters of this State will submit cheerfully to a reasonable tax for educational purposes. Sir, there seems to be a great deal of solicitude manifested on the part of many members of this Legislative Assembly with regard to the record they may make at this special session; as for myself, I wish the record to prove that however wrong I may have been with regard to other questions deliberated upon by this body I was right upon the department of education. I am willing to go with this record before the public and stand or fall by it.

A NEW CODE FOR SOUTH CAROLINA.—Governor Perry, of South Carolina states in his message that he has appointed a commission for the purpose of preparing and submitting to the Legislature for their adoption, a code of laws for the protection and government of the freedmen and colored persons. The idea of establishing such a measure, says the Times, is a good one, and we cannot doubt that under this system the blacks will be allowed to give their testimony before the courts of justice. The necessity of such a measure arises from the fact that the present laws of the State relating to negroes are all based on the doctrines of slavery, and still more from the peculiar circumstances and antecedents of the great body of the negroes.

For example, the laws made for the whites in regard to marriage and family relations, their duties and responsibilities, cannot at once, in their entirety, be applied to the blacks, for the reason that the marriage and family relations of the latter, have heretofore and still are in the greatest uncertainty and confusion. So with the laws relating to their holding of property and many other laws. We hope to see a code bearing upon all these matters of such justice and humanity established in South Carolina as to be a model for all the other States of the South.

A DIFFERENCE.—The Mountaineer contends that the President's plan for reconstructing the seceded State governments is not an experiment, but a well digested and matured scheme to be adhered to at all hazards. It is stated upon the best authority that President Johnson says the course he has adopted is an experiment. In this instance the Dalles paper "out Herods Herod." It indorses the President when he fails to indorse himself.—Albany Gazette.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR.—A private dispatch from Troy, New York, says that Montgomery Blair spoke in Albany and Troy for the Democracy. The result was that both cities, for the first time in years, gave Republican majorities. Something like Frank Blair's success in Missouri.

The Commercial Prospects of Portland

It now seems quite probable—in fact it is rendered almost certain—that a principal branch of the business of Portland will hereafter be carried on in the Montana trade. Hitherto we have not entered into that market. The valuable market that exists there has been supplied by the longer and more difficult routes which lead to the Rocky mountains from St Louis and the frontier of the States of the upper Mississippi valley. During the past year no special effort has been made by the merchants of Oregon to enter into competition for the possession and control of this trade. A few months ago a number of our citizens who are possessed of forecast and energy conceived a project whereby the commerce of Montana may be secured to Oregon. Great efforts will be made when the spring opens to make the scheme a success. The plan is an extensive one but it is being prosecuted with an eye to all the details, so that it can hardly fail. The scheme consists in a purpose to open a route known heretofore to be a good one, but never yet used to any extent because the interests of trade have not called for it. The construction of a wagon road over easy ground—already a natural road a good part of the way—together with the completion of a steamer now building on Pen d'Oreille lake, is all that is needed to give us a trade far more valuable and extensive than any other single branch of the commerce of the Columbia valley. The possession of this trade will be a clear gain for the business interests of Oregon since, as we before remarked this State has yet had little to do in supplying the Montana market.

In order to show what grounds we have for claiming a large share of the Montana trade we submit to the consideration of those who may be interested, the following statements as to distance, facilities of trade, &c.

From White Bluffs (a point on the Columbia above the mouth of Snake river) to Pen d Oreille Lake, good wagon road	160 miles
Across Pen d'Oreille Lake and up the river 15 miles to the "Cabinett" (steamboat navigation)	65 "
From the "Cabinett" to Horse Plains	65 "
From Horse Plains to Indian Agency on the Jocko fork of the Bitter Root	25 "
From Indian Agency to Hell Gate	40
From Hell Gate to Blackfoot City	90
From Blackfoot City to Helena	40 "
Total	480 miles

Deduct steamboat navigation of sixty miles and we have a total distance of four hundred and twenty miles of land travel from White Bluffs to Helena, Montana Territory.

The total distance from Portland, Oregon, to Helena, Montana Territory, by the route just described, is about seven hundred and forty miles. Of this, there are three hundred and twenty miles of good navigation for steamboats, and four hundred and twenty miles of land travel. It is well known that on this route there are few natural obstacles. The Coeur d'Alene mountains, the high range of which forbids all travel over the Mullan road during the winter, are entirely avoided by going via Pen d'Oreille. There are some rapids on Pen d'Oreille river which prevent continuous navigation, but by making two short land portages and building two additional steamboats the land distance from Portland to Helena may be reduced to three hundred and fifteen miles. It is not unlikely that these boats may be built within a year—particularly if the coming summer demonstrates the practicability and utility of the work already begun.

The steamboat now building on Pen d'Oreille lake will be completed ready for the trade by the middle of March. The practical results of a scheme which has engaged some attention among all classes and which has been looked upon with a particular interest by the mercantile community, will then be ascertained. The people of Montana view the enterprise with an interest not surpassed by the attention which it receives here. They know that if they can find no other way to obtain their supplies but by the methods heretofore in use among them, there can be little diminution in the enormous prices which they now have to pay. Hence the interest they take in having the avenue of trade by the Columbia river, opened to them. A considerable abatement of prices in market of Montana must follow as a result of the efforts now making to unite the commercial interests of that Territory with those of Oregon.

This trade, because of its magnitude, will be particularly valuable to Oregon. Each succeeding year the mining districts of the upper country take more goods than at any previous time. The great extent of the mines of Montana, and the very large population there, together with the proofs we have of the unsurpassed richness of both the placer and quartz lodes of that Territory, assure us that in striving for this trade we have the promise of something quite worthy of any effort we may be disposed to make.

WHY THEY WONT WORK.—A telegraphic dispatch says that many Louisiana country papers comment on the fact that the freedmen decline making contracts to work on plantations next year, and that they are adverse to working for Southern men on any terms. We do not have to go far to discover the reason of this aversion on the part of the freedmen to labor on plantations for their late masters. Not long ago there was a meeting of planters at the Chamber of Commerce in New Orleans, when rules were adopted whereby the employer could take away the wages of the freedman by fines, could punish by whipping and could prevent the freedman from leaving the plantation, or from being out of his cabin in the evening, under penalty of fine and imprisonment. It was further agreed among the planters that the freedmen should not be permitted to labor on his own account, that he should not raise or sell produce for himself, and that, in fact, he should do nothing but work for his sayor taskmaster and take what should be given him. If there is any difference between this system of oppression and that which was formerly the lot of the blacks, the difference is in favor of the institution of slavery as it used to be. Here then, is the cause why the freedmen of Louisiana will not work. Idleness in them or in any other class is greatly to be deprecated, but in cases where the freedman is treated in the manner decided upon by the Louisiana planters, he ought to be spoken of with commendation in that he has too much spirit to work without remuneration subject to the absolute control of his employer. The negro is like every other man in one respect at least: he wants pay for his labor. It is a promising sign to see him insisting on being put in possession of the right to work wholly for himself, and enjoy the sole benefit of his labor. If the Louisiana planters would proceed on the principles of justice in their dealings with the freedmen, they would have no cause to complain of being left without the labor necessary to carry on their plantations.

CALIFORNIA'S SENATOR.—Dispatches from California announce the election of Hon. Cornelius Cole as United States Senator from that State. He will succeed McDougall in March 1867. Mr Cole was a member of the lower House of the last Congress and gained a very honorable reputation in that body. He is known as a man of sterling political integrity. His principles are thoroughly national, and from the record he has made we are entitled to say that the country may confide in him. California has done well in electing him to represent her in the Senate.

The Mobile Tribune is candid. It says "We, the South, really sought the war, and we have no right to grumble."

FROM THE CAPITAL

Special Session of the Legislature

(REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE [illegible])

SENATE

SALEM, Saturday, Dec 16, 1865

Prayer by Rev. Mr Dickinson.

The Judiciary Committee reported back the bill to repeal the specific contract law with the recommendation that it do not pass.

The bill for the relief of Rigdon and Fullerton, recruiting officers, was laid on the table.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Portland was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

BILLS PASSED

To appropriate $[illegible]00 as compensation for extra services of the Adjutant General.

To [illegible] the indebtedness of Washington county which sum was included in the assessment.

To amend an act to incorporate the city of Salem.

To change the boundaries of judicial districts so as to transfer Douglas county to the first, Linn county to the second and Clackamas and Washington to the third district.

To relieve Benton from fines and penalties incurred by trying to pay taxes in currency. To incorporate the town of La Grande.

To prevent fraudulent assignments and fraudulent conveyances.

To enable the Common Council of the City of Portland to build sewers upon alleys and within streets. An amendment offered by Mr Mitchell to make the law constitutional by requiring a tender of payment of money before appropriation of property was incorporated in the bill.

To prevent rams from running at large. For the relief of N H Gates.

To legalize acts of J B Underwood, Notary Public, done under a misapprehension of the law.

MISCELLANEOUS

The resolutions endorsing the policy of President Johnson were laid on the table.

The memorial favoring the annexation of Walla Walla was adopted.

The bill to repeal the act requiring the State taxes to be paid in coin, was lost. The mail memorial was adopted.

EVENING

The bill for the relief of Rigdon and Fullerton, recruiting officers, was taken from the table and passed.

The bill for the payment of the members of the Legislature was passed.

A bill to regulate the time for holding Circuit Courts was passed.

The bill to regulate liquor licenses was lost.

Adjourned.

SALEM, Saturday, Dec 16 1865

HOUSE

Prayer by Rev Mr Irving, from Albany.

A minority report from Mr Fay of the select committee to whom was referred the bill for the transfer of the Klamath Lake country to Jackson county was read representing that there is no evidence to show that any of the citizens of either section are in favor of the change and therefore opposing it. Laid on the table.

Mr Fay introduced a petition from one hundred and thirty five citizens of Josephine county representing that the population of that county having decreased from twelve to only three hundred voters it is impracticable to keep up the county organization and praying that therefore the county be annexed to Jackson county.

The special committee to whom was referred the resolutions endorsing the policy of President Johnson reported some unimportant changes and recommended their adoption. Adopted.

Mr Thornton, chairman of the select committee to whom was referred the petition signed by Samuel Welch and one hundred and ninety three others, praying for the repeal of the Specific Contract Law submitted a long report to the effect that the law was a violation of a law of Congress and in contrariety to the wishes of the people who are engaged in other than commercial pursuits and therefore recommending that the prayer be granted.

Mr Wakefield claimed that he had not been consulted in preparing the report of the committee of which he was a member, and asked that it be recommitted so that he could present a minority report.

After some discussion, in which some very passionate language was used, the petition was recommitted.

Mr Wasserman, chairman of the select committee to whom was referred the proposition to so amend the State Constitution as to enable a municipal corporation to become a holder in any joint stock company, reported favorably. Indefinitely postponed.

Mr Gilliste offered a resolution limiting members to five minutes time in speaking upon any question during the remainder of the session which was adopted.

BILLS PASSED

To regulate the sale of spirituous liquors, requiring dealers to obtain the consent of a majority of the voters in the community which he proposes to sell liquors and for other purposes.

The bill appropriating $85 for the relief of N H Gates.

A bill to improve the breed of sheep by preventing rams from running at large.

AFTERNOON

The game bill was lost.

The bill to prevent stealing of cattle was passed. Also, a bill to legalize acts of J H Underwood Notary Public.

The bill to repeal the law requiring the taxes to be paid in coin was laid on the table.

The bill for the transfer of Klamath to Jackson county was strongly opposed by Messrs Fay Lane and others and supported by Mr Hogan and others, its friends claiming that as that district is so much further from the Dalles than from Jacksonville, the county seats of the respective counties, it would be greatly to the interests of the community, while its enemies contended that the people interested did not demand it and that the movement was only for political purposes. The bill passed.

A bill changing the name of an institution of learning in Polk county to Christian College was passed.

Messages were received from the Senate announcing the action of that body on several bills.

Adjourned to 7 o'clock P M.

EVENING.—SUNDAY LAW

The substitute for House bill No. 1 to repeal the Sunday Law, came up on its second reading. This bill permits the transaction of business till [illegible] on the Sabbath.

Mr Hogue offered to amend so as to prohibit the transaction of business between the hours of ten and four P M. This was the time usually devoted to religious exercises and as it was the chief object of the bill to protect persons in such exercises he regarded such a provision sufficient. The existing Sunday Law works many hardships upon his constituents who in this regard are peculiarly situated. As a special favor to them he hoped his amendment would be adopted although if rejected he would still vote for the bill.

Mr Thornton thought there could be no objections urged against the existing law in a civilized and intelligent community. Such laws were in force in every well regulated and enlightened State.

Mr Lane—I trust this amendment will pass. I am opposed to regulating a man's religious principles or conduct by law any way and unless this is passed, I think this bill like the old law will work particular hardships in the northern part of the State.

Mr Fay—I too hope the amendment will be adopted. I am opposed to making any man go to heaven by law or any other legislation that you can devise and if you can't make him go to heaven, you ought not to make him go to church. I am opposed to the whole principle of this bill to compel any man to keep the Sabbath. If you can't make a man rest on the Sabbath, why let him work. Our bones will not be sore if he works on the Sabbath and our souls will not be damned. [illegible] I think the law should allow a little privilege to those who do not go to church as well as to those who do.

Mr Tate—I am opposed to the amendment. If we have any Sabbath let us have a whole one. I had rather have no law at all, than to give a [illegible] the privilege of working part of the day.

Mr Bowlby—I am very sorry to see this thing give rise to any [illegible]. It does appear to me that there are some gentlemen here who are [illegible] fifty years behind the age. They have [illegible] this in almost every vote they have cast. This is the inference I am forced to draw from their course during this session. Now sir we have such laws in every State in this Union and gentlemen are getting behind the age when they [illegible].

Mr Fay—I will ask the gentleman from Washington if he has reference to the gentleman from Wasco [Mr Hogue].

Mr Bowlby—No, sir, I have reference to the Democratic party.

Mr Fay—I call the gentleman to order.

Mr Bowlby—I am perfectly in order, sir.

Mr Fay—The point of order is this: When the gentleman talks about the Democratic party he is not talking about the Sunday law.

Mr Bowlby—I am intending to show that these gentlemen are getting behind their own party, which several years ago enacted a stringent Sunday law. The fact that there are a class of people who have a right to demand this protection. It is one of the objects of law to protect those [illegible] I say it is a just law and I [illegible] that gentlemen [illegible] century should [illegible].

Mr Fay—[illegible] I wish to ask if there are not any laws to protect people?

Mr Bowlby—Certainly there are, and I have no desire to take them [illegible].

Mr Cox—The gentleman from Washington says we are behind the age and applies it to the Democratic party. Now I think in the position which we take upon the question we are ahead of the age. I refer him to the blue laws of New England where a man was fined for kissing his wife on Sunday and for other such things. I suppose he thinks that is the true type of [illegible]. I think we are ahead of the age, sir, for we do not think as he does that the human heart is desperately wicked. We believe that to let them alone they will get right in [illegible]. This amendment wrong? When you come to legislate what a man shall wear and what he shall eat then I [illegible] we are getting behind the age. Then, sir, it is different with us in Oregon. We are a new people here and in a new country. Those old laws will not apply to us at all. Our [illegible] and customs are entirely different from them but the gentleman will hold to his old fanatical ideas and he can't break loose from them. When we come up to this question as we ought to, and divest ourselves of all the [illegible] then we can legislate to suit the people and not until then. It is the Democratic party that is entirely [illegible]. We have unbounded confidence in the people and are willing to trust them. This is the way to make them as they ought to be. Take a soldier for instance that is naturally very brave and if you want to make him fight well you will tell him he is brave and can succeed, and he will accomplish a great deal and so it is with the people. They can accomplish a heap more if you will only encourage them.

There is already a law to protect churches and congregations. This law is oppression and works great hardships upon the people of Josephine county. [Here the speaker's gavel fell, Mr Cox having spoken five minutes.]

Mr Gilliste offered an amendment to the amendment to prevent saloons etc from being kept open.

Mr Lane—I am opposed to the amendment for I believe the whole law is in violation of the common law. It is also in conflict with the law of Congress granting licenses.

Mr Gilliste—I wish to remind the gentleman that the law of Congress expressly declares that it shall not conflict with the State laws.

Mr Parker—I have always lived under a Sabbath law and I have never known the people to become corrupted by it. I understand from gentlemen upon this floor that the Democratic party is [illegible] such a law.

Mr Fay—The Democratic party is not here represented as opposed to the Sunday law.

Mr Parker—I understood the gentleman from Josephine—

Mr Cox—I said the gentleman from Washington cast a reflection.

[A voice—Take it all back Cox.]

Mr Speaker—I think the gentleman from Josephine has given a sufficient explanation.

Mr Cox—I want to explain—I want—

Mr Speaker—The gentleman from Josephine will take his seat. I have said his explanation is good enough. [Renewed laughter.]

Mr Parker—I did not think any gentleman in Oregon would get up and oppose this law. If the party which is thus represented on this floor is correctly represented I think we had better send missionaries among them.

The amendment to the amendment and also the amendment were laid upon the table.

An amendment excepting telegraph offices was adopted and the bill was ordered enrolled and to be read a third time to-morrow Monday.

Several bills were read a second time and at ten minutes before 12 o'clock at night, the House adjourned till nine o'clock next Monday morning.

THE OREGON CODE.—We were delighted to learn from the last OREGONIAN that the paper for completing the New Code of Oregon had reached San Francisco; that it would be shipped from there to Portland on the first trip of the steamer Sierra Nevada, and on its arrival in Portland the public printing would be resumed and completed without delay.

While in Portland, last summer the proprietor of this paper examined the work and found 786 pages completed—the whole volume of laws now in force in Oregon according to the original plan of the work would have made about one thousand pages. To this will be added the statutes of the present extra session which will probably increase it to eleven hundred pages.

The typography and paper are excellent, which will more than make amends for the long delay. It is being printed and bound in Portland, Oregon and when completed it will be very creditable to our State Printer to the Commissioner and a lasting ornament to our young and growing State.

Hon M P Deady, formerly one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Oregon, now Judge of the District Court of the United States, for this District has been the Code Commissioner for the last four years. He carefully prepared many of the most important acts and the whole volume is to be printed and published under his supervision with exact and succinct annotations and concise references to adjudged cases in the Supreme Courts of Oregon, California, Massachusetts, New York and the Supreme Court of the United States which makes it very valuable and useful to farmers, merchants, mechanics, lawyers, Justices of the Peace and Judges throughout the United States. It is simple and yet profound, extensive in its scope and yet eminently terse and condensed and when completed according to its plan will not be surpassed by the statutes of any State in the United States.—Jacksonville Sentinel.

COTTON MOVING.—An unusually active business in cotton is in progress at this port. Last week the receipts reached 20 115 bales, and the sales and resales, 19 100. The receipts thus far in the current week average 3 892 bales a day and the sales and resales 5,000 bales a day. The exports from the port during the week ending last evening reached the extraordinary amount of 17 547 bales, including 12,4[illegible] bales—valued at $3 032 022 in currency—to the single port of Liverpool.

The receipts of cotton at the port of New York since the 1st instant add up 93 278 bales, against 46 6[illegible] bales exported from the port in the same period. At an average of $240 a bale these receipts represent a currency value of $22 386,720 and the exports $8 791,110. The receipts at this port since the commencement of the current cotton year, 1st September last, amount to 202 144 bales, or at the average of $240 a bale nearly $11,000,000 (precisely $48 [illegible]) in currency. The local market for the staple closed quite briskly and buoyantly yesterday under an animated demand from spinners, shippers and speculative purchasers. The stock of cotton on hand and on shipboard not cleared in this port is estimated at 150 000 bales, worth about $40,000,000.

The receipts of cotton at all the shipping ports of the United States thus far in the current cotton year, beginning with September 1st, reach 255 000 bales against exports in the same period of 107,000 bales. Included in the exports have been 98 500 bales to Great Britain, 7 000 bales to France, and 1 500 bales to other foreign ports—making up the grand total of 107,000 bales. The estimated stock on hand and on shipboard not cleared, at all the shipping ports is 3[illegible]0 bales, roughly valued at over $75 000 000.—N Y Times, October 25th.

During a marriage ceremony the bride was sobbing immoderately while the knot was being tied.

"What is the matter, my young woman?" asked the official.

"Oh sir," replied the bride, "it's because it's for ever."

"No, No," rejoined the parson, "that's a mistake. [illegible] Death puts an end to the engagement." On hearing this the bride dried her tears and was consoled.

THE REBEL GENERAL [illegible].—General Gilmore of the United States Army, lately interested himself in securing the pardon of General [illegible] who [illegible] Fort Sumter against [illegible]. General Gilmore asked the President to grant the application as a personal favor to himself. General [illegible] was [illegible] at Port Royal and was supporting his family by fishing. This pardon will secure him the [illegible] of his lands close to which his fishery [illegible] now stands.

A few days ago when we announced the death of Senator Collamer we were in error as to the time the event occurred. Late advices inform us that he died at his home in [illegible], Vermont, on the 9th of November. The [illegible] of his death, which reached us a few days since by telegraph, was the first announcement we had received of his decease and hence we inferred that his death had but just occurred.

We have received a number of the Montana Democrat, a new paper lately established at Virginia City, Montana Territory.

SPECIAL DEGREE MEETING.—The Patriarchs of Ellison Encampment, are requested by order of the C. P., to attend a special degree meeting this evening at 7 o'clock.

The Overland [illegible]. When the war closed [illegible] persons assumed that the railroads would no longer be so valuable, and must fall in the market. The Government had employed the railroads in transporting its soldiers and munitions, and [illegible] now that the Government ceases to be a customer railroads must do a far smaller business.

But others wiser replied: The soldiers were carried at half price and the roads they will travel as much in the course of a year and pay full fares. Also the Government paid only the lowest rates of freight but the surplus that consumed during the war will still have to be brought to market and will pay higher rates. Therefore the railroads will as a rule make more on the return of peace than during the war.

This reasoning is manifestly correct and it holds good in other matters as well. For instance the enormous demand for transportation in the Western rivers greatly increased the steamboat tonnage there. The St Louis Republican tells us that steamboats are more numerous and generally of a finer class than they were before the rebellion. The St Louis and New Orleans tonnage is now over forty thousand tons, or thirty three per cent greater than in 1860. The Ohio river tonnage has increased fifty per cent during the same period, the Mississippi river tonnage has increased fifty per cent and large additions have been made to the number of boats on all the upper rivers. Small steamboats have especially increased in the last five years. And yet these added tons are now usefully and safely employed upon our Western waters in the vast internal commerce which has recommenced with the peace.

No doubt it will be found that the terrible war has in some ways strained our resources and checked our growth. We have not yet felt its full effects; we have yet probably to realize all the losses we have suffered. But the country has borne it far better than any man, even the most confident could have dared to predict in 1860.—New York Evening Post, Oct 28th.

One day while a regiment was out for target practice, the commanding officer called out to the captain, who was a sharp fellow:

"Captain, I wish you to deploy your company across the vacant lot opposite the camp and drive the cattle off as I wish to fire at a target over there."

The captain saluted, performed the duty required and returning said:

"Colonel, I have done as you ordered, but I don't think you used me well in selecting myself and company for duty."

"Why not?" asked the colonel.

"Because sir, you showed us before the whole regiment as cow-herds."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—President Johnson received the intelligence of the Union victory in New York as though he had expected it, but when he was assured that New Jersey was again in the Union, he clapped his hands exclaiming "Good, good!"

[illegible] of last week [illegible] Portland [illegible] shall be [illegible] the view [illegible] Clark [illegible] justice [illegible] 1867 [illegible] The building [illegible] with ten [illegible] greatest length [illegible] and its width [illegible] of the basement [illegible] the dome [illegible] 11 feet [illegible] Court room [illegible] dome [illegible] structure [illegible] 45 feet [illegible] of the roof [illegible] shaped [illegible] and the sides [illegible] occupied with two [illegible] windows, interspaced with [illegible] columns [illegible] the base of the [illegible] from which [illegible] never have the good luck [illegible] take a glance at the [illegible] and the adjacent [illegible]. As yet the building [illegible] complete [illegible] commanding view by [illegible] steep and [illegible] winding [illegible] and [illegible] there [illegible] of Portland and its [illegible] buildings at my [illegible] In the distance [illegible] north [illegible] were [illegible] Hood and St Helens—[illegible] glister [illegible] clear rays [illegible] The former [illegible] king [illegible] blazing [illegible] was [illegible] the very personification of nobility and [illegible] After [illegible] place can be [illegible] permanent habitation where nature has [illegible] a snow peak or no mind to vary the [illegible] the plain and refresh the weary eye. The [illegible] of such [illegible] inspiration [illegible] while gazing at it you feel yourself lifted up [illegible] the low level of mere bodily hunger and thirst [illegible] and supply. History invariably teaches [illegible] people of the plain [illegible] and the [illegible] whose [illegible] are ever willing to sub[illegible] the [illegible] But in [illegible] with the [illegible] mountain [illegible] their rugged and sublime surround[illegible] and courage, honor and independence are valued [illegible] luxury or comfort that art can give or wealth [illegible] suppose such are right in their way and [illegible] what the Creator intended. Without the [illegible] people of the plain the poetry of the moun[illegible] might not be so apparent; indeed without the [illegible] prey upon at frequent intervals he might [illegible]

[illegible] return to Portland. On every side of me I [illegible] varied and sometimes [illegible] structures of wood [illegible] densely packed together and edging out [illegible] natural limits of the site—a green semi [illegible] regular shaped [illegible] hills on the west and the bright Willamette curving [illegible] and south. A radius of a mile from where I [illegible] not more than reach the average limits of [illegible] town. Across the Willamette, and upon its [illegible] I could count the houses and orchards in the [illegible] of East Portland. This burg is yet half [illegible] but destined at no distant day to for[illegible] and comfortable homes for the thrifty artisans, whose hands are daily turning this raw clay into temples and habitations for civilized [illegible]

[illegible] years ago on the morning of the 14th of [illegible] 1848, I stood upon this site for the first time. What I saw then, standing on the bank of the [illegible] the almost untouched forest, and now [illegible] of the new Court House, there is the dif[illegible] age. The building will cost near $100,000 [illegible] putting money in the county purse [illegible] some two years ago, it will be paid for [illegible] example of "pay as you go" which [illegible] to the debt ridden and interest [illegible] of California, who sometimes sneer [illegible]

[illegible]—The prevailing amusement of the [illegible] this part of the country, this season, appears [illegible] Concerts. We hear of several likely to [illegible] and which offer sources of enjoyment to all [illegible] and that oft described "light fantastic [illegible]" the evening of the 25th a grand military and [illegible] ball and concert is to be given by the [illegible] of Ft. Vancouver at Turn Verein [illegible] under the leadership of Prof T G Ad[illegible] 14th Infantry Band numbers twenty-six per[illegible] [illegible] through the scenes of the late great [illegible] music for the defenders of the Union [illegible] the trials of field and hospital and [illegible] our happy shores. Receive them hos[illegible] Adkins was formerly a leader in one of [illegible] New York, and appears thoroughly conver[illegible] subject of music in all its various forms [illegible] will appear on Saturday morning. The [illegible] new year 1866, will be commemorated by [illegible] who have much to hope for themselves [illegible] during the next few years. They are just [illegible] similar in respect to nature of that [illegible] people have so lately emerged. Turn Ve[illegible] been selected as their place, on Monday [illegible] 1st. Let the [illegible] be joyous with [illegible] and the dance. These are eventful times, [illegible] greet with happy hearts the new born [illegible] the triumph of a new age.

[illegible]—During the last twenty-four hours, the [illegible] river, above the mouth of the Willamette, has [illegible] very much more solid than before. The [illegible] Troup lay at Vancouver during Sunday [illegible] there was not a very great amount of ice in [illegible]. About 2 o'clock yesterday morning the ice [illegible] the river in great quantities, and by [illegible] running furiously. The Troup steamed up [illegible] Portland, arriving here without receiving any [illegible] importance, but will not attempt to re[illegible] until the ice is frozen solid, or ceases [illegible] the Columbia said river freeze below the [illegible] the Willamette, the Troup will possibly not be [illegible] making her regular trips, landing on the [illegible] opposite this river. The Oneonta was [illegible] day morning preparatory to making an [illegible] the Dalles, but was compelled to return without accomplishing the object. The [illegible] started for Astoria, but soon after, encoun[illegible] of floating ice in the Columbia, returned [illegible]. The Oneonta was being sheathed over [illegible] for the purpose of making a trip to Astoria, [illegible] at noon.

[illegible]—During the few days that have lately [illegible] attention of the Circuit Court, Judge Shat[illegible] there has very little occurred to be of in[illegible] the public. A decree of divorce from her hus[illegible] to Virginia Collins. In the case of L [illegible] and wife vs W. W. Chapman, concerning [illegible] real property within this city, a decree [illegible] in favor of the plaintiffs, according to the [illegible]. In the case of Marie T. Shriver vs [illegible] Clark Hoy et al, concerning city real estate [illegible] appropriation of land, etc, the testimony [illegible] and submitted to the Court. In the case [illegible] vs. the heirs of D. H. Lownsdale de[illegible] entered in favor of plaintiff to block 255 [illegible] of McEwan vs the estate of W. H. Frush, [illegible] and arguments were submitted to jury.

[illegible] steamer Active, which arrived last night [illegible] brought the members of Mr. Ward's Dra[illegible]: Mrs. Fanny Morgan Phelps, Mrs. Rose [illegible] Phelps, Ralph Phelps, John Torrence, Jr., [illegible] A. Bedilye, J. W. Joy, A. Fisher, Thom[illegible] Mrs. McDonald, Miss Florence and Mr [illegible] previous to the arrival we have now in [illegible] talent calculated to be of service in fur[illegible] performances worthy of our patronage [illegible] they have come. We know they will do [illegible] to relieve the tedium of the long winter [illegible] attract people. The only obstacle in the [illegible] is the abominable old theater, but cannot [illegible] that for a time. Take it as it is for the pre[illegible] by all means encourage this Company.

[illegible] Court.—Since the arrest by officer Tr[illegible] Tallman on Friday night, and his sentence [illegible], the Recorder's Court has presented no fea[illegible]. The aforesaid Tallman was a poor [illegible], who, in his benevolent heart, had attempt[illegible] too much of the tangle-foot which abounds [illegible], and by this means keep those of weaker [illegible] from indulging. He had fallen by the way[illegible] head pillowed upon the soft bricks of a pave[illegible] while he was lost to all earthly troubles in the embraces of Morpheus, when, taken by officer [illegible] to the city Hotel de Crossbars, and placed [illegible] the gaze of vulgar eyes. Upon appearing in [illegible] pleaded guilty of violation of law, and was sent [illegible] ten days.

[illegible] of the Active.—The steamer Active, Capt [illegible] arrived last night at 9 o'clock, thirty six hours [illegible] Victoria. The passage was interrupted somewhat [illegible] the river, which was encountered in massive [illegible] points all along from below Oak Point. She [illegible] large number of passengers and considerable of [illegible] freight. We have dates up to the 16th by [illegible] has fallen in such quantities as to admit of [illegible] of Victoria. A "great strike" has been made [illegible]. The Chronicle says $8 per day can be made [illegible]. A [illegible] was to come off at [illegible] theatre soon. [illegible] valuable property on Yates [illegible] with brick building thereon, has sold at private [illegible] $6,000.

[illegible] & Co's Express.—A notice posted in [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co, announces that the ex[illegible] for San Francisco, by the Pacific, will close to-day [illegible] A. M. and be forwarded to Astoria. No [illegible] has arrived from the upper country as yet [illegible] the close of navigation. So soon as the express [illegible] California by steamer a messenger will leave [illegible] upper Columbia overland.

[illegible] Concert.—We are requested to no[illegible] that on Wednesday evening a musical concert [illegible] of the Episcopal Church at Oregon City, [illegible] at Oregon City by the members of that [illegible]. A cordial invitation is extended to the public [illegible] the concert on this occasion.

[illegible]—The following named gentlemen were elected [illegible] of Willamette Lodge for the ensuing year at the [illegible] of the lodge last evening: P. O. Briley, [illegible] W. M.; Henry Saxer, S. W.; J. R. Pr[illegible] J. [illegible] Treasurer; B. Pell[illegible] Secretary; [illegible] Tyler.

[illegible]—Dates to the [illegible] from [illegible] Sandwich Islands have been received. At [illegible] it was expected the bark [illegible] Eldridge would [illegible] in ten days for Portland, with a fine cargo of [illegible] produce.

[illegible] Pacific.—In the event that the steamer [illegible] should not visit Portland on account of running [illegible] river, or the fear of a further freeze, Mr Lewis [illegible] to send by the Cascade, to-day, for her freight [illegible]

[illegible] Lecture.—The lecture of Judge Deady, [illegible] and Pulpit," the fifth of the course, at the [illegible] for the benefit of the S. S. library, should [illegible] this evening.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO DECEMBER 15.

The Maryland Registry Law

BALTIMORE, Dec 15.—Chief Justice Bowie declares the constitutionality of the registry law which excludes rebels from voting and all who cannot take the test oath.

Returns from Newfoundland report the election [illegible] in favor of [illegible] of the Provinces. The measure will be strongly argued the coming winter.

From Mexico

NEW YORK, Dec 14.—The Paris Moniteur's correspondent of the 27th Nov. says the Manhattan, one of the steamers of the American and Mexican Steamship Company, brought from Havana to Vera Cruz on her last trip 17,000 Springfield muskets, purchased by an American named O'Sullivan for the use of Maximilian. The U. S. Consul at Havana refused to permit the vessel to leave the harbor when he found these arms were on board. The Manhattan was detained twenty four hours in consequence of his refusal. The English and French Consuls were then called upon by O'Sullivan. They had an interview with our representative, at the conclusion of which Bills of Lading were signed, and the steamer left the harbor with these implements of war on board.

A letter from Mexico says that the Imperial Government has arrested several Americans on the charge of sympathizing with the Liberals and sent them out of the country.

The Mayoralty of Mobile

A dispatch from Alabama states that [illegible] Forsythe, of Mobile has vacated the Mayoralty chair in favor of Gen Withers, who has taken the oath but had not been pardoned.

Fire Near Oswego.

OSWEGO, December 15.—The steam saw mill of Chandler and Wilson, on the east side of the river was burned last night. Loss $ 0,000. The shipping in the river was damaged, but saved by great exertions.

Steamboat Explosion on the Mississippi

CAIRO, Dec 15.—On last Saturday the boiler of the steamer De Soto, plying between Pascagoula and New Orleans exploded near Pascagoula. Ten or eleven lives were lost.

Fire at Ottawa, Illinois

CHICAGO, Dec 15.—The fire at Ottawa on Wednesday destroyed eight buildings in the business center. The loss amounts to $10,000. The principal sufferers are Hess and Leland, who owned six buildings and were not insured. The fire caught from a defective flue. Numerous fires are reported throughout the northwest. All traceable to intense cold weather and defective flues.

Gen. Shields in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Dec 15.—Gen. James Shields, ex United States Senator, late of California, has bought lands in Calloway county and will take up his residence in this State.

Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, December 16.—A fire this morning destroyed a half square of the business block bounded by Lake, Franklin and Southwater. Total loss half a million of dollars. The weather was so cold that the department worked with the greatest difficulty.

North Governor of North Carolina

Governor Worth was inaugurated to-day and in a brief address said the people of North Carolina desired the restoration of the Union.

Boiler Explosion at Lansingburg, New York.

TROY, Dec 15.—The boiler at J. G. McMurray & Co's brush factory, Lansingburg, exploded this morning, killing P. Ward, engineer. The damage to the building is $20,000.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—The Cabinet had a long session to-day, attended by Gen. Grant.

Gen. Eaton, of the freedmen's bureau on duty here, has resigned and will establish a newspaper at Memphis.

Butler is actually writing up his reply to Grant's report of the Fort Fisher affair, and great boasts are made of the damage he will inflict on the Lieutenant General. It is needless to predict that the latter will pay no attention to it, and will never know he is hurt.

The Supreme Court has been occupied to-day with arguments on the constitutionality of the test oath. Other speeches are to be made, Reverdy Johnson being next in order.

Illness of Thomas Corwin.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—A Washington special to the Tribune, says Thomas Corwin was struck with paralysis last evening at the residence of the military agent, where a brilliant assemblage were being entertained. Senator Wade and Gen. Garfield caught him as he was falling and carried him to the bed. At last accounts he was unconscious and apparently in a critical condition.

General News.

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—The evidence in the contested election of the Eighth New York District, Wm. E. Dodge against James Brooks, has been sent to the printer and makes over 1,000 pages. The case will come up for action in the House early in January. Lieut. Col. Ward Marston, of the Marine Corps, having pleaded guilty to the charge of applying to his own use $8,000 belonging to enlisted men while commanding the barracks at Boston, is dismissed the service and disqualified to hold office. Mr Burlingame has received instructions preparatory to returning to China. The policy of the Government is to extend business relations with that country as rapidly as possible, and the instructions look to an enlarged sphere in that direction. Mr Brown offered a resolution in the Senate instructing the judiciary committee to inquire into the expediency and rightfulness of providing by law for the adoption of the eight hour system of labor in all employments within the jurisdiction of Congress, lies over informally.

CHICAGO, Dec 15.—Horace Maynard being asked what he thought of the prospects of the Tennessee delegation since the last action of the House, said he thought that Stevens had the whole Southern Confederacy in his breeches pocket and meant to keep it there for a good while.

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—Commodore Brashear writes to the Navy Department from Callao that the Peruvian Government has determined to make common cause with Chili in resisting the aggressions of Spain.

Commodore Craven's Case.

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—The court-martial sentence of Commodore Craven, for having failed to accept the challenge of the rebel ram Stonewall to fight the frigate Niagara at Ferrol, is that he be suspended on leave, but to receive pay for two years. The Navy Department in announcing the sentence severely censures the court-martial and says it was the duty of Craven to have encountered the Stonewall at any hazard, and if through negligence or any other fault he failed in any one particular to do his duty, then he did not do his utmost to capture and destroy the vessel, and is liable to the penalty of death provided by law. It will be remembered that Craven declined the challenge because he feared if his broadside did not sink the Stonewall at once, she would ram and sink him. The Department says the first rule of naval action has been to take great risks for the accomplishment of great ends, but the verdict of the Court means, do not fight if there is a chance of defeat.

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—The recent departure of the Secretary of the French Legation for Paris is still commented upon and is a fruitful source of rumors. It is said there has been a sharp correspondence between the State Department, and if the appointment of Logan to Mexico is consummated the French Embassy will leave Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec 15.—C. Huntington, Vice President of the Pacific Railroad, received to-day from the Treasury Department one million dollars in bonds on account of the second division completed. The House Pacific Railroad committee met to-day, but will not take up matters in earnest till after the holidays. There will be strong efforts to allow the Missouri and Kansas line to follow the direct route up Smoky Hill to Denver City, with land grants, etc., which the Omaha Company will contest.

Kentucky Still Holds Out

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec 13.—In the House Mr Young offered a resolution which was ordered printed and referred to the committee on Federal relations, that this Assembly heartily approve of the action of the last General Assembly in rejecting the proposed Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, and believe that vote to be a finality, and that this Assembly has no right or authority to consider or vote on this measure until it shall be again passed or proposed by Congress.

A number of the friends of the United States Senator elect, Hon. C. Cole, fired a salute at Broadway wharf last evening on the arrival of the Sacramento boat in honor of his election. It was rumored that Mr Cole was on board the steamer, but such was not the case.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 16.—Judge Shepherd died at five o'clock this evening.

The story in yesterday's Bulletin, of a Mrs Haven, in Alameda county, having administered poison to herself and children, appears to have [illegible] results of the tragedy are condensed. A physician in Oakland writes to the Tribune that Mrs. Haven was a [illegible] and well [illegible]. She did poison herself and children [illegible] were given which saved them.

The steamer Pacific sailed for Portland this morning.

The stock market is still demoralized and prices are mostly lower [illegible] with a fair business. California Steam Navigation Company's shares fell off [illegible]. It is said that no dividends will be paid for three months.

The fast trotting stallion [illegible] was sold at auction yesterday and was purchased by Mr [illegible] of Napa for five thousand nine hundred dollars United States gold coin.

WATSONVILLE, Dec 16.—Frank Williams, a Portuguese, [illegible] of the Mary [illegible], was murdered last night about [illegible] o'clock. He was found dead in his house at [illegible] He [illegible] was still warm. No one was with him but an [illegible] Indian. A post mortem examination [illegible] and no examination was [illegible] he had suffered a severe blow on the head which had caused his death. Two Indians have been arrested and the evidence is strong against them. An inquest was held to-day and adjourned to obtain further evidence.

Riot Among the Firemen in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO.—A most disgraceful riot occurred among the firemen yesterday afternoon. The riot commenced between Howard No. 3 and Knickerbocker No. 5, at the corner of Mexican and Third streets. They were separated, but came together again on Fourth street, where Monumental No. 6 joined Howard in an attack on the Knickerbockers. All hands set up a terrific yell, and in less than a minute the street was filled with excited men fighting with anything that they could lay hands on. Pistols were fired in every direction, cobble stones were torn up from the streets and thrown wherever a head presented itself, and for a few moments the scene was fearful. No. 5's Company were driven away from their engine, and in fact the three engines were for a time unprotected owing to the members being engaged in the disgraceful melee. Edward Flaherty, the Assistant Foreman of No. 5, who was doing all that lay in his power to quiet the disturbance, was shot through the arm and badly wounded about the back of his head by a blow with a club or stone.

One citizen who was looking on received a pistol ball in his foot, and the number of cuts, maims and bruises inflicted with spanners, cobble stones and clubs were too numerous to particularize.

The Courts adjourned to-day in respect to the memory of Judge Shepherd, who died on Saturday evening. At a meeting of the Police Department it was resolved to wear mourning for a period of thirty days. The death of Judge Shepherd places the responsibility upon the Board of Supervisors of at once electing a new Police Judge to serve out the unexpired term. It is presumed that the election will take place this evening.

Judge Pratt to-day sentenced Barney Owell to be hanged on January 22.

George W. Carpenter, a lumber dealer, shot himself in the mouth with a pistol this o'clock this morning, causing instant death. He has suffered from domestic troubles and was some time since divorced from his wife. Beyond this no cause is assigned for the act.

A VERITY.—The choicest and most effective remedies from the Laboratory of Nature are embraced in New ell's Pulmonary Syrup, a certain, and speedy cure, for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. It is equally effective in adult or infantile cases, and can be used with impunity and certainty of relief in all subjects of Pulmonary affections. Use no other, if this most desirable preparation can be had.

A NEGLECTED COUGH, COLD, OR SORE THROAT, which might be checked by a simple remedy like "Brown's Bronchial Troches," if allowed to progress may terminate seriously. For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh and Consumptive Coughs, "The Troches" are used with advantage, giving oftentimes immediate relief. Singers and public speakers will find them also excellent to clear the voice, and render articulation wonderfully easy.

SALEM, Ogn, Sept 1, 1864

And whereas such claims are just and were incurred in the maintenance and support of the late Provisional Government of Oregon, therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate, the House concurring, that our Senators and Representative in Congress be, and they are hereby instructed to use their influence to secure the assumption and payment of said claims (principal and interest respectively) by the Congress of the United States.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby instructed to forward a certified copy of these resolutions under seal of State to each of our Senators and to our Representative in Congress.

Passed the House Dec 12, 1865
Passed the Senate Dec 12 1865

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the State of Oregon, the Senate concurring, that whereas, the contract as now let for carrying the mails between Lincoln, California, and Portland, Oregon, requires that the heavy paper mails for Salem, Albany, Oregon City, Astoria and the Dalles (weighing from three to five thousand pounds) shall be carried over the overland route, through rain, mud and snow (upon the mountains) during the rainy season or winter months, and whereas it is impossible for any company to bring such weight over such roads, without severe damage to the paper mail, as well as frequent and long detention, and whereas, we believe that arrangements can be made, by the contractors on this route, with the steamers plying between San Francisco, Cal. and Portland, Ogn., for the transportation of such heavy mails to Portland by water, on the arrival of the Panama steamer, therefore,

Resolved, that we urge upon our Senators and Representatives in Congress to lay the matter before the Postmaster-General and urge upon him the necessity of permitting the contractors to make such arrangements with the steamship lines as may be satisfactory to the Post Office Department during the time of such contract, and whenever a new contract is let, that it permit the contractor to send the paper mail for the winter months by the several lines of steamships running between San Francisco, California and Portland, Oregon.

A HISTORY OF UNION LEAGUES.—During my stay in Illinois, chance threw into my possession certain documents, from which I made copious extracts for the purpose of my leisure, of giving to the Bulletin certain interesting facts (never yet published in any newspaper,) descriptive of the origin, rise, progress and final collapse of these political societies. Union Leagues, as is well known, were instituted to maintain the integrity of the Union party, and as a consequence, the Union itself. So the originators expressed themselves. The first Union Leagues were formed in 1861, by Union men in Tennessee, and were secret societies of necessity, so, to guard against "persecutions" by secessionists. These societies combined a latent strength equal to Masonry and Odd Fellowship; they employed secret signs and pass words.

On the 25th day of June, 1862, at the small town ["city"] of Pekin in Tazewell county, State of Illinois, John W. Glasgow, Alexander Small, Dr. D. A. Cheever, Rev. J. W. M. Vernon, Hart Montgomery, Geo. H. Harlow, Maj. R. N. Cullom, Charles Turner, Jonathan Merriam, Henry Pratt and L. F. Garrett, formed a secret society for the purpose of suppressing "the bitter hatred that was expressed by a large number of citizens towards the United States" * * * * "That true Union men could be known and depended upon in any emergency" * * * * "Conceived the idea of organizing a league, similar to the one existing in the mountains of Tennessee." * * * * These eleven corporators denominated this first League The Union League of America. It had "a ritual, signs and pass words." It made a constitution. "And the wheels of this [1862] powerful organization were put in motion."

When the pioneer League had fully organized in the city of Pekin, "agents were appointed to organize Councils in the surrounding towns and counties throughout the State." In a few weeks Councils were organized in Peoria, Kingston, Groveland, Delavan, Tremont, Virginia, Beardstown, Jacksonville, Springfield, Decatur, Bloomington, Clinton, Chicago, La Salle and other towns. About the 1st of September, 1862, the Pekin League notified each Council that on the 25th of the same month a convention would assemble in the city of Bloomington for the purpose of organizing a "State Council." Local councils were requested to send delegates; but 12 counties out of over 100 counties in Illinois were represented. At Bloomington was organized the Grand Council of the State of Illinois and the following officers elected: A Grand President, Grand Vice President, Grand Secretary, Grand Treasurer, Grand Marshal, Grand Herald, Grand Sentinel. There were also elected an "Executive Committee" of seven. George H. Harlow was chosen Grand Secretary. In a subsequent report he states that the League progressed slowly but surely. * * * "And like all other movements of high aims and of a reformatory character, met with bitter and determined opposition from its open enemies, and that class of Union men called Conservatives." * * * "For some months the League staggered beneath the load of odium heaped upon it by its open opponents and its secret foes." * * * But the "League boys having an abiding faith that God, Truth and Justice were on their side, did not falter or look back." * * * In January, 1863, the Illinois Leagues were in a low condition. The State Union League Council was represented by only ten delegates, and only by seven counties. "This session of the Grand Council, by its limited attendance, almost seemed like a failure" be said Mr Harlow's report.

In this crisis, according to Secretary Harlow, "Professor D. Wilkins and George H. Harlow, as a committee of conference called upon Gov Richard Yates (Senator from Illinois) and had long and very interesting interview with him. * * * After a patient hearing the Governor at once advised us to keep up the organization, saying that he believed from the information we imparted and from the signs of the times as he read them, that the League would be of invaluable service to the Government. * * * He advised us to organize the League in every town and county in the State, and assured us of his hearty co-operation and assistance." Under the patronage of Gov. Yates the League became an important institution. On the 20th of May 1863, a National Grand Council assembled at the city of Cleveland, in Ohio. The original signs and ritual of the Illinois League were adopted by the National League with slight changes. At Cleveland J. M. Edmunds was elected National Grand President and John W. Forney National Grand Vice President. Nine officers were chosen all residents of the city of Washington. He of the Washington city became the headquarters of the National League. On the 25th of March 1864 Illinois had 464 Councils and 47,[illegible] Leaguers. On the 25th of August there were in that State 1,100 Councils in operation. [illegible] the manual [illegible] Ritual [illegible] prepared by authority [illegible] delivered [illegible] The Illinois League authorized J. Wilson to form Leagues in any part of the United States. He organized a Union League in the City of Washington and the Washington League introduced Union Leagues [illegible] New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Connecticut and other States. A League Convention was called in Chicago to meet [illegible] other States [illegible] by laws and take [illegible] jurisdiction of the property of all leagues [illegible] The Washington Council was about to call a National Convention and to prevent this the Cleveland National Council was called. There was danger of a division in the [illegible] early day by reason of the determination of a part of Washington Leaguers [illegible] the Western organizations. There was [illegible] at Washington a secret society which was not given up until the Western Loyal Leagues became too strong and took the lead at Cleveland. What was the precise mission of the society at the capital is not just now apparent.

Since the last Presidential election these Societies seem to be generally discontinued. Certainly they were not called into action in the Connecticut and Pennsylvania elections. Nor are they apparent in the present canvass in New York. It is therefore to presume that they have subsided with the exigencies of the war.

It is very apparent that wh[illegible] was finally adopt[illegible] [illegible] Convent[illegible] [illegible] League [illegible] then it was that Mr [illegible] in November 1864 have [illegible] [illegible] 00,00 members

An Unpublished Letter of President Lincoln—An Expression of His Views in 1859

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says:

In the course of the last Summer in looking over a mass of books and pamphlets lying on a book shelf [illegible] Berlin, Prussia, my attention was attracted by a quarto sheet on which was [illegible] [illegible] letter from [illegible] to Dr. Theodore Canisius [illegible] United States Consul in Vienna [illegible] [illegible] the Vienna [illegible] of April 186[illegible]

In May 1859 Lincoln had expressed his views on the Massachusetts amendment and other questions in a letter to Dr. Canisius. The letter is the more important from the fact that it was written at a time when Lincoln had not the most distant idea of being nominated for the Presidency. The letter the original of which is still in the hands of the Consul, but is shortly to become the property of an historical society in the United States is characterized by the loftier and more elevated thought which mark him as a statesman and a man of principle. It is as follows:

SPRINGFIELD, May 17, 1859

Dr Theodore Canisius—Dear Sir: Your note asking in behalf of yourself and other German citizens, whether I am for or against the constitutional provision in regard to naturalized citizens lately adopted by Massachusetts and whether I am for or against a fusion of Republicans and other opposition elements for the canvass of 1860 is received.

"Massachusetts is a sovereign and independent State and it is no privilege of mine to scold her for what she does. Still if from what she has done and inference is sought to be drawn as to what I would do I may, without impropriety speak out—I say then that, as I understand the Massachusetts provision, I am against its adoption in Illinois, or in any other place where I have a right to oppose it. Understanding the spirit of our institutions to aim at the elevation of men, I am opposed to whatever tends to degrade them. I have some little notoriety for commiserating the oppressed condition of the negro, and I should be strangely inconsistent if I could favor any project for curtailing the existing rights of white men even though born in different lands and speaking different languages from myself.

"As for the matter of fusion, I am for it if it can be had on Republican grounds, and I am not for it on any other terms. A fusion on any other terms would be as foolish as unprincipled. It would lose the whole North while the common enemy would still carry the whole South. The question of men is a different one. There are good patriotic men, and able statesmen in the South whom I would cheerfully support if they would now place themselves on Republican ground. But I am against letting down the Republican standard a hair's breadth.

"I have written this hastily but I believe it answers your questions substantially.

"Yours truly A. LINCOLN."

Some Englishmen in collecting money to present Mrs. Jefferson Davis with "An Illustrated Bible." The Spectator remarks: We feel no anger towards Mrs. Davis and we trust her husband will yet be pardoned by the clemency of the North but we see no appropriateness in giving her an illustrated Bible. There must be already plenty of painful pictures burnt in on the Southern leader's memory without reminding him of Andersonville by illustrating the plague of lice or appending any drawing to the text "that thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongues of thy dogs may be red with the same."

The Salt Lake Vedette, speaking of the mines in that region, says:

Cumulative proofs are coming in from day to day, of the equal richness of Utah's gold and silver mines to those of the surrounding Territories. Practical mineralogists and parties who have paid particular attention to examining and assaying the extensive silver ledges at Stockton Rush Valley forty odd miles from here are confident that, with the developments now doing and the enterprises on foot, ere another year we will have another Washoe here in Utah.

Ordinance No 283

AN ORDINANCE to prevent persons carrying fire arms or deadly weapons of any kind within the Corporate Limits of the City.

The City of Portland does Ordain as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to carry any fire-arms or deadly weapons of any kind in a concealed manner within the Corporate limits of the City.

Sec 2. It shall be the duty of the Marshal or any of his Deputies to arrest any person carrying such concealed weapons.

Sec 3. Peace officers shall be exempt from the provisions of this Ordinance as regards to the carrying of such fire-arms or weapons.

Sec 4. Any person violating Section 1 of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and on conviction before the Recorder shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten (10) dollars nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, or by imprisonment in the City Jail not less than five (5) days nor more than twenty (20) days, at the discretion of the Recorder.

Passed the Common Council, December 8, 1865.

SEWING MACHINE.

We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear.

It is entirely noiseless;

A patented device prevents its being turned backwards;

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1861. For particulars enquire of LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
